LGBTQ2+ Oral History Digital Collaboratory

Video Log Form

 Name of Interviewee:
 Ben Power Alwin

 Name of Video Logger:
 Evan Taylor

 Interview date:
 2020/02/18

Start time	Starting language or Quote	Notes, if any
1:13:31	"I mean there's been some progress, but I don't think there's been a tipping point."
1:36:14	"Although, you know what I argue is that the underpinning of the modern LGBT movement started with the ONE Archives Published one magazine."
1:39:02	"And actually we think that the gay and lesbian movement started with Stonewall, and it was American. And that's really not a true viewpoint at all. Like the first way gay and lesbian movement was in Germany, it wasn't, it was in Berlin in the 30s."
1:53:35	"And how you prevent burnout is to work for your own cause."
1:56:25	"We would be respected, we would be seen in some ways as evolved human beings on the realities of genders Nobody would be murdering a trans person because we would be thought of as spiritual leaders."
1:04:26	legacy question (in part)	1:05:27 end time